

INDOOR MAZES

6:00PM - 1:00AM

Can you survive the total darkness? We dare you to try.
ACTION ZONE

Ferocious, terrifying, and unrestrained, this pack of werewolves leaves no survivors behind. Legend has it that once bitten, the transformation into a werewolf is so painful that all you can do is howl at the moon.
ACTION ZONE

With the looming deterioration of our planet, the government has hired C.H.A.O.S. Labs (Cerebral Health Association and Operational Sciences) to create a sedative allowing for safer space travel to far-off planets. Though the drug is still in its infancy, the lab has received authorization to begin trials on living subjects. Be warned: hallucinations have been reported when exposed to the drug in vapor form.
CONEY MAUL

Are you prepared to survive? Supply shopping in a post-apocalyptic world is risky business, but this particular grocery store is slashing prices down to the bone. A word of advice: don't turn down aisle "Z".
CONEY MAUL

The Scare Care System is on full display! Be sure to drop by and check-in for visiting hours. We guarantee you'll want to check-out before it's over.

Mama May and her youngins have run this world-famous butcher shop for decades. Their meats are highly regarded for their supple textures and unique, mouth-watering flavors. Competitors have tried to discover Mama's secrets, but all have failed. Today, that changes - Mama is hosting an Open House, and you're invited! So head on down to Rivertown and see what all the fuss is about! Word on the street has it that Mama's serving up samples.
RIVERTOWN

Madame Fatale's Wax Museum was once one of the most famous tourist attractions in the world. Patrons marveled over the precision and detail in Madame Fatale's creations. How could something so fake look so real? Take your time exploring this forgotten treasure and maybe you will discover her secret. Remember to take a flashlight, or you might be visiting for longer than you'd like.

OUTDOOR MAZES

8:00PM - 1:00AM

The backwoods of Kings Island have come alive with the inhabitants of the bayou. Larger than life creatures have clambered up from the depths of the swamp's murky waters to enchant and trap those foolish enough to approach the water's edge.
INTERNATIONAL STREET

Trespassers beware! The farmers don't take kindly to uninvited guests. Don't get caught or you might just become a permanent part of the field.

SCARE ZONES

8:00PM - 1:00AM

Something went terribly wrong at the Miami River Chemical Company. Now victims of the toxic sludge run rampant at the facility. Can you get out in time before the toxins take hold?
INTERNATIONAL STREET

You're invited to crash the annual Royal Masquerade Ball. Mix and mingle with the crème de la crème of society. Grab a selfie with the Duke and Duchess. But beware; sometimes the mask is there for a reason.
INTERNATIONAL STREET

In the 1700s, Peter Armstrong, a pumpkin farmer, hid the body of his dead wife inside his largest pumpkin and left her there to rot. Grief-stricken, he began envisioning his wife wandering around his farm, with the face of a jack-o-lantern. He made his visions a reality by murdering townsfolk and replacing their heads with jack-o-lanterns. In doing so, Peter turned into a pumpkin-like demon who, alongside his victims, now roams the woods of Rivertown for eternity.
RIVERTOWN

In the 1920's, C.J. Masterson set up his circus in the heart of Coney Mall, despite the town's violent protests due to their fear of clowns. Eventually, the police had to forcefully remove the circus. Nobody knows for sure what happened that night, but the officers and the circus were never seen again - nothing was left behind except for a bloodied clown nose. Some swear they hear sounds of the circus throughout the night, but it's just a myth. Right?
